Weddings

APRIL 6, 2006

Earth friendly weddings are good for everyone, including Mother Nature.

Green wines

Toasting with environmentally friendly wines is easy. You'll find organic wines in most liquor stores.

If you're willing to switch from traditional bottles, look for Tetra Pak wine packaging. Tetra Pak, which you may have seen in juice, tomato and soup products, is now being used for the French rabbit brand wines.

The material is made from paperboard, which means it's lighter to ship. The wine has a screw-off cap, like a carton of orange juice, so the container doesn't need a cork closure.

"For weddings, this is the most responsible packaging there is," says Jean-Charles Boisset, founder and president of Boisset America, that imports French rabbit.

The wine chills in 10 minutes in the package, but can be poured into a decorative carafe for a wedding party, Boisset says.
